REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4 1884

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES G. BLAINE,
OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JOHN A. LOGAN.
OF ILLINOIS.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.
At Large { C. J. L. MEYER. / F. A. HUSHER
First District—J. W. OSTRANDER.
Second District—D. C. VAN BRUNT.
Third District—JOSEPH HARRIS.
Fourth District—JOHN RUGEE.
Fifth District—E. W. ARNDT.
Sixth District—B. T. ROGERS.
Seventh District—W. M. FOGO.
Eighth District—CANUTE ANDERSON.
Ninth District—E. L. BROWNE.

Mr. Norcross will be the next assemblyman from the Second district.

Cleveland goes to Connecticut, but Connecticut will go to Blaine.

Chicago should be very thankful. Mr Schurz denies that he is going to make that city his home.

The bewailing of democratic folly by democrats themselves, will begin about the middle of next week.

We stop the press to-day to get in the remark that Cleveland will not be elected president. But then, that is old news.

The democrats have given up Indiana. They gave up Cleveland a month ago an I will give up New York next Tuesday.

The latest thing the democrats have lost in this campaign is hope. They never had much, but they have lost all they had.

General Butler has more regard for the Sabbath than St. John. He won't travel on Sunday or make political speeches on that day.

Colonel Vilas has been nominated by the democrats for the assembly. He may possibly get to the assembly but he will never get higher politically.

It is generally supposed that William Walter Phelps will go in the cabinet of President Blaine as secretary of the treasury. A better appointment could not be made.

If England wants Cleveland so much, probably he had better emigrate there after his term at Albany expires. The people of this country will not have any use for him here.

The president will appoint Thursday, November 27th, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer—thanksgiving that the crops have been big and republican majorities large, and prayer that they may always continue to be so.

The democrats do not like to hear of the "bloody shirt" in a campaign. The way the democrats can forever bury the bloody shirt, making it impossible to have a resurrection, is to just see to it that in every state in the south there shall be a free ballot and a fair count. A very simple remedy, but an all-effective one.

George W. Julian, a renegade republican, who speaks for the democrats in Janesville to-night, was the free soil democratic candidate for vice president with John P. Hale, for president, in 1852. When the republicans of Indiana refused to give Julian a renomination for congress after he had been kept there for ten years, he bolted. You see he was a republican for revenue only.

Mr. Burchard, director of the mint, estimates that the amount of money now in the United States, both paper and coin, has reached the comfortable sum of $1,800,000,000, an increase of $75,000,000 in the last year. There were coined since October 1, 1883, $28,973,000 standard silver dollars, while the silver dollars in actual circulation are but $5,000,000 more than last year. Nevertheless, the stamping and storing of silver must go on.

Those who look for republican defeat in New York on account of the alleged disaffection of the stalwarts, will wake up on the morning of the 5th of November, and find it was all an idle fancy. The Troy Times, takes time to say that "no more loyal supporters of Mr. Blaine can be found anywhere in the land than are numbered among the old stalwart element in this section. They have no grudges to remember, no debts to pay, no injuries to avenge. They are republicans, and are all in line, true and steadfast."

A brick from "Gath:" By the census of 1860 there were in the city of New York less than 4400 manufacturing establishments. They employed 90,000 people. They paid in wages $28,000,000 a year. By the census of 1880 there were in the city of New York about 11,400 manufacturing establishments. They employed about 230,000 hands, and paid in wages every year about $100,000,000. Do you not see the folly of Mr. Carlisle, who lives in Covington, and Mr. Morrison, who lives in Southern Illinois, throwing into the midst of this great city the free trade issue, with 230,000 souls living on the manufactures?

Blaine's reception in New York was a magnificent affair It was the most brilliant demonstration ever seen in that city, there being 41,000 men in line. The procession was nearly two hours in passing a given point. Whirlwind of applause was given to Mr. Blaine by the acres of enthusiastic people who assembled to hear him. The outpouring of the people was a surprise to everybody, even to the most sanguine republicans. The reception of Cleveland was no comparison to that given to Blaine—the coming president of the United States.

The Hon. Hugh McCulloch, who has been appointed secretary of the treasury, is the oldest man who ever undertook the duties of that office. He was born at Kennebec, Me., in 1811, and is now 73 years of age. He has been a nominal resident of Indiana since 1835. He was appointed first comptroller of the currency, by Mr. Chase in 1863, and succeeded Mr. Fessenden as secretary of the treasury upon the retirement of the latter, remaining in the treasury until 1869. In 1870 he was engaged in the banking business in London, Eng. Some years since he returned to this country, and has lived for the most part on a farm in Montgomery county, Md., a few miles north of Washington.

Said Mr. Storrs the other day, "There is no surer sign that the democratic party is getting afraid than when it begins to quote scripture. Within the last two weeks a democratic orator in Cincinnati has been wrestling with the Old Testament. He likened his party to the Israelities of olden time who had been wandering in the wilderness, but now saw the promised land. Republicans accepted the analogy. The old Israelites wandered forty years in the wilderness, but the democratic modern Israelites have only wandered twenty-four years. They yet owe the republicans 16 years more wandering before they get even with their brethren of ancient days."

Here is an extract from a private letter written from Utica, New York, and dated October 12. The reference is to one of the largest woolen mills in the state of New York: "They (the woolen manufacturers) have not bought any wool this summer, nor do they mean to buy any more until they see whether Cleveland or Blaine is elected. If Cleveland, they talk of shutting down; but we shall know more about it after awhile. If the republicans carry Ohio there will be great strife in New York for the next three weeks." Of course, the democrats will call this buncombe, but there are thousands of cases similar to this which have come to notice this season. Business men are afraid of democratic stupidity and conspiracy for plunder and spoils.

That brilliant orator and accomplished scholar, Sergeant S. Prentiss, once said on the stump in the Clay campaign of '44, "He who could succeed in establishing free trade in the policy of this country, or in overthrowing the tariff system and destroying our American manufactures, would be entitled to receive from the English government the highest pension in their gift. If their constitution and laws permitted, there is no dukedom or earldom to which Sir Robert Peel might not justly elevate him. Yes, fellow citizens, if the orators of the democratic party could persuade us by their plausible sophistries that free trade is the true policy of this country. England would rejoice to her very core!" If Prentiss could rise out of his grave and speak, he couldn't say any more appropriate words for this campaign than those given above.

An eastern paper of pretended influence and wide circulation, the Times of Philadelphia, says "as the campaign progresses the independents of Wisconsin appear to become bolder and bolder." This is remarkable news to the old political workers of the state. Then, again, the same paper says that the independents issued a second address, while on Saturday, during Mr. Blaine's visit to Milwaukee, they covered the town with an open letter to Mr. Blaine asking him a series of questions concerning all the charges made against him during the present canvass, and that "few more pungent documents have been issued in a campaign which has been productive of vigorous writing and speeches." It may look this way to a democrat down east, but out here in Wisconsin, everybody knows the state is going for Blaine by a big majority.

MY DEAR MRS. BEECHER—I am sorry you showed that letter to your husband. What made him read it out loud before 5,000 people? Why didn't I tell you to burn it? But I don't see anything bad about the letter. Did Henry seem to like it? I just did my best when I wrote it, but I notice that the democratic papers don't publish it very generally, and I haven't seen its sentiment endorsed by any paper supporting me which was rather disappointing. Probably Mr. Curtis will endorse it this week, and so may the Times and Evening Post, as they say that I am just as good a man as Washington or Jefferson was. I see that the republican papers are making a great splurge over the letter. Some of the Blaine papers seem to appreciate it so much that they have published it twice, and have put some of the words in big type which shows that they know a good letter when they read one. I don't read republican editorials about the letter for republican papers lie so about me that I hate to read them. I am still keeping straight, and may go to church again before I quit Albany for Buffalo. Tell Henry to write me and tell me if he can why our democratic friends of the press don't take a more favorable view of that letter. The republicans oughtn't to out do us in enterprise in this campaign. If this letter could be read at some big democratic meeting it might help me.

I've made a speech on the tariff since I wrote you before, and how do you like it? I think it was real nice. I just like the tariff, I thought I wouldn't at first, but since I got an introduction I must say I am rather fascinated by it. If your husband can read this letter before a big democratic meeting it may help me.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

So many sufferers from those distressing diseases, rheumatism and neuralgia, have found a panacea for their ills in Athlophoros that it is not wonderful persons having read of almost incredible cures should entertain "great expectations" when they seek relief for themselves in its all-powerful attributes. Mr. N. R. Ansbach, of Clarinda, Ia., writes: "Please find enclosed postal note for one dollar, for one bottle of Athlophoros, as I cannot do without it in the house, the first bottle doing all I could expect."

CAMPAIGN MATTERS.

Notable Gatherings in the Interests of the Great Parties.

Blaine Demonstrations in New York—Hendricks' Reception at Springfield, Illinois—Notes from the Field of Battle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The merchants and business men's parade Wednesday afternoon in honor of the Republican candidates for the presidency and vice presidency, despite the threatening weather, was one of the most noteworthy demonstrations that has been witnessed during the present campaign. It was estimated that there were 25,000 men in line, extending fully three miles. Among the principal organizations that took part in the procession were the produce, maritime, cotton, coffee and petroleum, and stock exchanges; the dry goods, boot and shoe trade; American Watch company, and a large delegation representing the Wall street bankers and merchants. The dry goods organizations, numbering 5,000, made a splendid display and evoked great enthusiasm all along the line of the procession. The jewelers, numbering about 1,500, showed a splendid front. A large number of business houses along the line of the procession were decorated with bunting and portraits of Blaine and Logan. The processionists marched to the cry of "Blaine! Blaine, and Ohio!" The line of march was up Broadway to Madison square, where the procession was reviewed from the grand stand by Mr. Blaine. When the head of the procession reached Twenty-third street the crowd of spectators was enormous, and as the various organizations marched past the reviewing stand the greatest excitement and enthusiasm prevailed. At the close of the procession Mr. Blaine, amid the cheers of the multitude, was escorted back to the hotel. The procession was two hours and forty minutes passing a given point.

The dinner given to Mr. Blaine by the citizens of New York caused a scene of unwonted activity at Delmonico's, corner of Fifth avenue and Twenty-sixth street, in the evening. The hour set for the dinner was 7 o'clock. At that time long lines of carriages had left their occupants at the doors, and 200 gentlemen were engaged in handshaking and preparing for the banquet.

It was 7:30 o'clock when Mr. Blaine reached the rooms, and a few minutes later, as he entered the ball-room, where the covers were laid, he was greeted by the hand-clapping of the others of the company, who had preceded him, and stood at their respective places at the table. Mr. Blaine was escorted to the post of honor by Mr. William M. Evarts and Mr. Cyrus W. Field, and took his seat as the room resounded with "Three cheers for James G. Blaine," proposed by Mr. A. R. Whitney.

The room was elaborately decorated. The tables were laden with rare plants intermingled with delicate and artistic examples of the confectionery art.

Mr. Blaine sat immediately on the right of the president, Mr. Levi P. Morton, United States minister to France on the left. The other guests at the principal table, and in the order of sitting were: On the right—Judge Noah Davis, ex-Governor Cornell, ex-Governor Hoyt, Cyrus W. Field, and Charles E. Coon. On the left—Rev. Henry M. Field, D. D., ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt, ex-Judge John F. Dillon, William Dowd, and Addison Brown.

The various tables were supplied with dainty designs intended to illustrate the character of the industries of the country and in which the citizens for the most part were engaged.

When the guests were seated, grace was said by the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Field. After the elaborate banquet had been enjoyed and coffee and cigars were brought, the chairman, Mr. Evarts, called the assemblage to order, and made an eloquent and witty speech. Referring to the Independents, he ridiculed the idea that men could change their votes without changing their principles, and could be in love with one party and in opposition to another, and show their love of the one by overthrowing it and their hatred of the other by elevating it, and said if this was politics it must be upon some transcendental view, and then illustrated transcendentalism by the man who said it was like the holes in bluff on the Mississippi river, after the bluff had been removed, leaving nothing but the holes. He then went on to enumerate the principles of the Republican party, among which he particularly emphasized protection to home industry and closed by offering a toast to the guest of the evening. At the announcement of the toast there were cries of "Hear, hear," and tremendous applause, the company rising as Mr. Blaine arose to bow his acknowledgement. When the toast had been drunk, the applause was renewed to be succeeded by concerted cries of "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine," "O! O! O-hi-o," etc.

When quiet was restored, Mr. Blaine responded to Mr. Evarts, first paying an eloquent tribute to that gentleman's personal prominence in the country's affairs, and then thanking the gentlemen assembled, in the name of the Republican party, for the evidence they gave of earnestness in advocacy of its cause. He then proceeded to discuss the issues of the campaign, devoting most of his speech to that of the tariff, and touching upon the banking system and the policy to be carried out with reference to foreign nations, closing with a short eulogy of the Republican party, after which he took his seat amidst prolonged applause.

Mr. Evarts then read telegrams of regret from Hon. John Sherman and John G. Whittier. This ended the formal proceedings, and the guests passed into the parlors, where for an hour Mr. Blaine was surrounded by his friends, and engaged in friendly conversation. Among the prominent persons present at the banquet, in addition to those before mentioned, were H. O. Armour, William H. Robertson, Jesse Seligman, Clarence A. Seward, Henry Clews, Whitelaw Reid, D. O. Mills, George Bliss, J. D. Vermilye, Andrew Carnegie, Lloyd Aspinwall, B. F. Jones, Russel Sage, Jay Gould, W. E. Connor, August Kountze, and C. L. Tiffany.

A very large delegation of clergymen, numbering, it is stated, 1,025, called on Mr. Blaine in the morning and presented him with an address. He made a brief response, thanking them for their sympathy and support.

An Ovation to Hendricks.

SPRINGFIELD., Ills., Oct. 30.—Ex-Governor Hendricks arrived in this city in a special car from Indianapolis Wednesday morning at 8:30. Long before the arrival of the train the streets and buildings in the neighborhood of the Wabash depot were thronged with men, women and children. When the train arrived it required the utmost exertions of a dozen policemen to clear a narrow wrath to the carriage. On the way to the Leland the governor received an ovation from the throngs on the sidewalk. He held a reception all forenoon at the Leland. At 10 o'clock the Sangamon county farmers paraded and were reviewed by Hendricks from the Leland balconies. The cavalry numbered 574, and the wagons and buggies 289, with two bands.

At 2 o'clock Governor Hendricks, with Gens. McClernand and Palmer and William M. Springer, left the Leland with an escort for the court house square. The jam here was simply indescribable. The police could not keep the crowd back. They cheered, yelled and shouted, shoved the carriage one way and then the other in their endeavors to grasp the hand of the vice presidential candidate. Springer occupied a seat with the driver, and came very near being pulled from his perch several times. The grand stand was finally gained, and then began a battle for standing room between the people on the stand and the police and guests. It was fully five minutes before Gen. McClernand could get in position to introduce Hendricks. When Hendricks arose to reply the crowd of 5,000 people yelled and cheered and waved their hats and handkerchiefs for ten minutes. Hendricks' remarks were of the same general tenor of other speeches he has made. Reform demanded a change and a readjustment of the tariff. When he closed Mrs. Parnell was introduced and received an ovation second only to that of Hendricks'. A large Irish flag hung on a tree in front of the stand in honor of her presence.

The night parade was composed of 6,000 foot, 500 cavalry, twenty-two cornet and thirty-six martial bands and drum corps. St. Louis had a delegation of 200 in line. The decorations and illuminations were the costliest seen in Springfield this year. In the decoration of residences the ladies vied with each other as to the number of lights and the many and fantastic shapes and designs. The business part of the city was decorated irrespective of party. Notable among the badges worn were those by the young ladies labelled, "Tell the truth." A float of young ladies contained a transparency, "We know a marriage license is necessary in Illinois." Governor Hendricks left for Shelbyville, Ind., on the 9 o'clock Wabash train.

The Trouble in the Third Illinois.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Gen. Fitz-Simons, who was nominated by the convention Tuesday for congress in the Third district, called, with a number of friends, on the county executive committee, and requested that his name be placed on the county ticket. William E. Mason, who was present with his friends, protested against acceding to the request. The committee agreed to hear Fitz-Simons and Mason and three friends each that they might select. Mason selected R. E. Jenkins, J. J. McGrath, and Henry Booth, while Fitz-Simons chose H. C. Bennett, Frank Smith, and E. B. Baldwin. Mr. Jenkins said that he believed that Davis was nominated regularly; that he had objected to Davis submitting the contest to arbitration, but Davis having done so and having declared his resolution to stand by the result, he [Mr. Jenkins] could not do otherwise than also abide by the decision. He, therefore, thought it right and proper that Mr. Mason's name should go on the ticket. The case was argued for two hours, and the committee reserved its decision.

Democratic Demonstration at Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—The street demonstration in favor of Cleveland and Hendricks which took place Wednesday night was a grand success. It was the largest Democratic display Boston has ever known. A torchlight procession comprising 5,000 men, with bands and drum corps by the dozen, marched in a drizzling rain over about eight miles of the city streets, applauded by the multitudes which waited patiently at all points of the route. The procession was in twelve divisons, and was commanded by Col. Henry W. Wilson. The point of formation was the corner of Dartmouth and Beacon streets. It was long after midnight when the demonstration was at an end. Many more houses in the residence portion of the city were illuminated than has previously been the case on a Democratic night.

Gen. Logan.

CARBONDALE, Ills., Oct. 30.—The receptions Gen. and Mrs. Logan received in this section were highly gratifying to them. In this section of the state they were both born, and passed their early married life, and their old friends and neighbors turned out on masse to greet them. At this place there was a very large crowd, and when they arrived all the bells of the city and whistles of different manufacturing establishments added to the welcome. A brigade of 2,000 cavalry, composed of veterans of the late war, and a great corps of footmen, were in line. Sixteen special trains brought the people here from all the adjacent counties. The city was draped with flags, bunting, streamers, mottoes, etc.

A Prohibition Appeal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—A St. John address to the Christian public, signed by the Rev. Drs. Cuyler, Deems, Thomas, Pullman, Wharton, and F. H. Kerfoot, and John B. Gough, Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, and J. N. Hearns has been issued. This gives their reasons for standing firm for St. John, and ends with these words: "Prohibitionists may not elect St. John next Tuesday, but they will elect an issue in American politics which will never be gotten rid of until the liquor question is settled, and settled rightly."

Carter Harrison at Warsaw.

WARSAW, Ill., Oct. 30.—The demonstration of the Democracy upon the occasion of Carter Harrison's visit Wednesday, was an immense affair. It is estimated that 10,000 people were present, and Mr. Harrison was received with an ovation. He was escorted to the park by a large and fine procession, and spoke to a big audience. At night a procession of 1,000 men paraded the streets.

Chicago Independents.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The Independents held a mass-meeting at Central Music hall Wednesday night, at which 2,000 or 3,000 were present. One of the speakers declared there were 17,000 enrolled on their lists in this state.

The A. M. Sullivan Fund.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of prominent Irishmen was held here Wednesday night for the purpose of starting in England a branch of the Sullivan fund. Thomas Power O'Conner presided, and there were present Justice McCarthy, M. P., John Edward Redmond, M. P., Michael Davitt, and many other Irish leaders. Mr. Davitt addressed the meeting and urged the establishment of branches of the fund in Australia and America. Over $1,000 was subscribed.

The Spanish-American Treaty.

MADRID, Oct. 30.—The negotiations for a commercial treaty between Spain and the United States with special reference to trade with the Spanish colonies are likely to terminate speedily, the obstacles, which threatened their successful completion having been tided over. The instrument will, it is expected, shortly be ready for the necessary signatures.

Massachusetts Ahead.

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—Governor Robinson has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, and appointed Thursday, Nov. 27.

The Rewards of Literature.

[Cor. Philadelphia Times.]

When I knew Mark Twain about fifteen years ago he had no money or next to none. wrote newspaper letters at $25 apiece, and had been refused permission by a newspaper to collect the letters he wrote for them. A subscription book-house took hold of him, put him on his feet, gave him both rest and revenue, and by the time he was married he was himself fairly independent in fortune. Some of the distinguished men, like Jefferson Davis, who have written their memoirs for the regular publishing house, have been discouraged in the sales. The big publishing house with its many enterprises, is somewhat restricted in the power to bring all its capacity to bear upon a single book. The small book publisher who has mastered the details of the subscription business can take a book like Blaine's and put behind it 10,000 canvassers at once, and push it onward with that rapidity which is the genius of the business.

Ayer's Pills are the ready remedy which defeat many diseases, if taken in season. They should be kept in every family.

Every Flavor that Dr. Price has made has the peculiar taste of the fruit from which it is obtained, and are so true to nature that their use leaves nothing to be desired. We have yet to hear of the cook who has used Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, that was not delighted with them. Nor natural flavors, none compare with Dr. Price's.

The Untamed American Citizen.

[New Orleans Picayune.]

Each freeman is bound to have a ticket, and will take his chances as to what benefit it may bring him. The result is over-crowded trains, over-crowded play-houses, and discomfort for all concerned, only because the free-born, untamed American citizen is as good as anybody and is bound to be there at the same time with everybody else.

Should Have Tried Both Barrels.

[London Punch.]

The Laird's brother-in-law (from London)—It's very strange, Lachlan! I'm having no luck!—and yet I seem to see two birds in place of one! That was surely very strong whisky your master gave me at lunch.

Keeper—Maybe aye and maybe no—the whusky was goot; but any way ye dinna manage to hit the richt bird o' the twa! !

It Was Always So.

[New Orleans City Item.]

"What dreadful times these are!" said Croaker. "They are far worse than when I was a boy." "I think you are right," said his friend, "for I remember hearing my grandfather say that he frequently heard his father say the same thing."

His "Financee."

[Exchange.]

In speaking of the girl to whom he was engaged he referred to her as his "financee."

"You mean your fiancee, I guess. It is pronounced "fee-ong-say."

"I don't care how it is pronounced. This girl is my financee. She's worth $30,000."

For the Paper.

[French Fun.]

"How is this, waiter? I find on my bill: 'Paper, 10 cents.' I haven't had any paper."

"Oh, sir, but the 10 cents is for the paper your bill is made out on."

HEADLONG TO DEATH.

Frightful Plunge of James Carroll at Chicago.

Bravely Returning to a Burning Building to Make Sure Others Were Safe, He Is Cut Off by the Flames.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—A human being dangling by a single hand from a fifth story window a hundred feet above the pavement; a thousand excited people in agony watching him; a score of excited men making superhuman efforts to cast him a rope; a dozen intrepid fellows beneath holding a canvas for him to drop upon; the gradual weakening of the brave man's hold; a shriek, a plunge—and death—was the horrible scene presented at noon Wednesday at the corner of Michigan street and LaSalle avenue.

At a little before noon in the building 122 to 128 Michigan street there was a tremendous explosion. The windows in the rear upon the alley where the engine and boiler were located and part of the wall were blown out. In an instant flames followed. The entire structure became choked with smoke. Upon the very topmost floor were twenty-one girls and eighteen men and boys. There was in the rear what is known as a fire stairway lined with iron. Down this the girls and men groped with their skirts and jackets pressed to their nostrils. James W. Carroll, foreman of the cigar-box factory in the top floor, gave the warning to his employes, and was, it is said, the last to leave the floor. He asked anxiously whether all were on hand. Fearful whether there might not some be left behind he turned back. The employes in the stairway groped their way to the ground floor and escaped. A few minutes later Jim Carroll, the foreman, was seen at the fifth story window. Then he crept out upon the cornice. The smoke was dense, and the flames were close behind it. Finally he let himself down and clung to the window sill by his fingers. Men rushed then to the roof of the building across the alley with ropes. "It seemed," said an excited witness of the terrible scene, "as if the brave fellow clung there five minutes. I had to turn my head away. It was awful." Men stood below with a canvas stretched out. Finally Carroll caught the rope with his left hand. He loosened his hold upon the sill, but could not keep his hold upon the rope. He fell headlong, struck the canvas held for him, broke through it, and was picked up almost a corpse. He is an unmarried man, aged about 28, and resided with his father at the corner of Thirteenth place and Ashland avenue. His nose was broken and his face was horribly mangled and lacerated by the fall. His teeth were all knocked out, and his skull crushed. The doctor who visited him expressed the opinion that he could not long survive his terrible injuries.

The building, 122 to 128 Michigan street is upon the southeast corner of La Salle avenue, and is six stories in height. On the first are Schnabel Bros., manufacturers of barbed wire; on the second, The Campbell Printing Press company; on the third, Denheiser Bros., dealers in gum. The fourth floor is unoccupied. Messrs. W. E. Fisher & Co., manufacturers of cigar boxes, occupy the fifth and sixth floors.

"We had never used that fire stairway," said one of an excited group of girls who had barely escaped from the building with their lives, and who, bare-headed and with tear-dimmed eyes, were discussing poor Jim Carroll's fate. "We had never used that stairway until to-day. Just as soon as we heard the explosion we all ran, waiting for nothing, to the windows. We saw the flames, and Jim Carroll told us to run down the fire staircase. Carroll followed us to the third floor. Then he turned back to see if all were safe. That's the last I saw of him." Then the girl began to weep.

The building was owned by C. E. Culver, late partner in the firm of Culver, Page & Hoyne. The total destruction of property by the fire is estimated at $125,000, which was partially covered by insurance, but the amounts are not known.

Indian Outbreak Threatened.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 30.—Two Indians were reported killed Tuesday at Long Creek, Grant county, by a party of unknown whites. The band had camped on the stream for the purpose of hunting and fishing, and the whites crept within rifle-range and fired into their camp, killing two braves, and made their escape. It is said these Indians took an active part in the recent Bannock war, and committed several outrages and murders among the whites. In that county hatred of the Indians is intense. The matter is to be investigated, as trouble is feared, and an Indian outbreak of serious proportions is thought very probable.

Poisoned at a Railway Station.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 30.—Dalton, Ga., is the breakfast station on the Western and Atlantic railroad. Monday morning about thirty passengers sat down to the table, and half an hour afterward were taken violently ill, and were so sick that they were compelled to be cared for at the hotel. The others boarded the train, but they grew worse, and when it reached Marietta twelve or fifteen had to be conveyed to the hotel at that town and received immediate attention. Four or five were reported to be low at midnight. It is thought they were poisoned by eating bread made of "sick" wheat. Others think it was due to tainted sausage.

Maj. Wasson Free Again.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 30.—Maj. Wasson, the United States army paymaster, who was sentenced to serve eighteen months in the Kansas state penitentiary, was released from the prison Wednesday morning, and will go direct to Des Moines, Iowa, where his parents reside. He has never been closely confined, and, being a good civil-engineer, planned and almost superintended a fine system of water-works for the prison until its completion. He was out a great portion of the time on surveying expeditions, locating ground for the coal mine that is being opened for the state at the prison.

Death of a Noted Fenian.

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 30.—Col. J. G. O'Neill, the noted Fenian, who commanded a Tennessee Confederate regiment during the war of the rebellion, and led the celebrated Fenian invasion of Canada in 1868, had a hemorrhage of the lungs on the street Wednesday, dying fifteen minutes after he was taken to a room in the Central hotel. He had been in town but a few days. His death was entirely unexpected.

FIFTY-SEVEN SOULS

Believed to Have Gone Down in a Pacific Coast Steamer.

Disastrous Storms and Additional Loss of Life Reported—No News from the Maasdam—Number of Her Passengers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—The steamer Newbern arrived from Guaymas Tuesday, and brings news of disastrous storms on the coast of Lower California. The captain says the steamer Estado de Sonora left Mazatlan Sept. 29. The first storm broke out the following day, and it raged with such terrific fury that the Estado was unable to put back. It is supposed she rolled over and went down with fifty-seven souls on board. Nothing was ever afterward heard of the passengers or crew. On Oct. 14 the Newbern passed a large quantity of wrecked stuff near the entrance to the gulf of California. Among this was a pilot-house and mast, with a band attached. A lot of brass work had been picked up by the natives of San Jose Island. They had stripped off all the wood work and burned it, leaving only the brass work. There were no marks on any of these, but it is believed they were all from the wrecked steamer. Some of the brass work was sent to Guaymas for the purpose of identifying it. The Estado was commanded by Capt. Rodo, a nephew of Capt. Charles Wilson, formerly Danish consul of this city.

The second storm began Oct. 7, and lasted three days, and was more violent even than the first. The only particulars are from Cape St. Lucas. As reported, there was such a tremendous sea running that the Newbern was unable to touch at the cape. She passed through fields of loose candles, believed to be part of the cargo of the schooner Dora. Out of all the small coasters only one has been heard of, a small sloop, name unknown, with five souls aboard. Two of them were saved, a young son of M. Green, the manager at Cape St. Lucas, and a sailor. The latter held the boy sixteen hours in his arms in the water. Of the nine sailors of the schooner lost four were: San Pablo, San Pedro, Cisno, and Antonio. The names of the six others are unknown.

The Maasdam's Fate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Agent W. H. Van Den Toorn of the Netherlands American line stated Wednesday that he believed that the passengers and crew of the Maasdam had been rescued. He had received a cable dispatch from Rotterdam stating that the captain of the Oder, who sighted the burning steamship, had expressed the opinion that her people had been saved by a westward-bound steamship. He probably based this opinion on the condition in which he found the burning vessel. The latter probably had the appearance of having been abandoned. If the passengers had been lost there would doubtless have been some evidence of this. Mr. Van Den Toorn thought if the passengers on the vessel had been saved by a steamship the latter would reach some American port during the latter part of the present week or early next week. There were on board a crew of fifty men and 150 passengers. The passenger list is expected to be received here Saturday. The Maasdam was built in 1872 at Renfrew, Scotland, and was a three-decked, bark-rigged, screw steamer of 1,735 tons' measurement.

Thanking Vanderbilt.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 30.—The ninth annual meeting of the American Academy of Medicine was continued Wednesday, with Benjamin Lee, A. M., M. D., of Philadelphia, in the chair. The following resolution was adopted: "That the American Academy of Medicine recognizes in the recent munificent gift of W. H. Vanderbilt to the College of Physicians and Surgeons, of New York, a most important and valuable service to the science of medicine in America. That in this spirit the academy tenders to Mr. Vanderbilt its obligations with the assurance that in no better way could the higher education of our profession, and the benefit of humanity be promoted."

Oliver Wendell Holmes was elected an honorary member. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Albert L. Gibon, United States navy; vice presidents, R. Stansbury Litton, Pittsburg, Pa.; James A. Stewart, Baltimore; William Elmer, Bridgeton, N. J.; James C. Morris, Philadelphia; secretary and treasurer, Richard J. Dunglison; assistant secretary, Charles McIntire.

Reading Securities for Sale.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—There were more Reading railroad securities advertised for sale at Thomas & Son's auction house Wednesday, attracting, with the other stocks, quite a large crowd of would-be purchasers. Among those advertised were $192,000 Shamokin, Sunbury & Lewisburg Railroad company's first mortgage 5s, and $47,000 Philadelphia & Reading company's income 7s. Both these blocks were withdrawn, and all that went under the hammer was one Philadelphia & Reading income bond at 7 per cent., which sold for $500, just 50 per cent. of its face value.

Negotiating for Commerce.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Daily News says that England and the United States are negotiating with a view to the improvement of commercial relations between the British West Indies and America. The duties on bread stuffs is the mooted points, and it is claimed by the American representatives that a reduction of the duties would be injurious to the industrial classes of the United States.

The New Treasury Secretary.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 30.—Secretary McCulloch is expected to qualify immediately, but will not enter upon the discharge of his duties for some days, as he finds it necessary to first transact some pressing private business. The president has designated Assistant Secretary Coon to act as secretary of the treasury in the absence of Secretary McCulloch and Judge French to act in the absence of Mr. Coon.

Thinks It a Good Appointment.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Daily News says that Hugh McCulloch's appointment as secretary of the American treasury is a particularly good one. Years ago McCulloch was a familiar figure on Lombard street for Jay Cooke. Although he is appointed only for the fag end of the present administration, it is to be hoped that his successor will be equally sound upon banking matters.

The Rumored Fall of Khartoum.

CAIRO, Oct. 30.—Rumors that Khartoum has fallen are increasing, but nothing definite is known. All is excitement here, and the authorities have been moved to redoubled energy in fitting out troops to be dispatched as soon as orders are received.

Pushing Up the Nile.

CAIRO, Oct. 30.—Six whale boats manned by Canadians have passed Semneh, having safely stemmed the rapids, and are proceeding to Dal.

AT

M. C. Smith's New York Cash Store,

For the Fall Trade of

Ladies' Garments,

consisting of

Dolmans, Sacks, Paletots, New Markets, Russian Circulars

Etc. We have these garments in Seal Plush, Plain and Brocaded Silk, and Plai nd Diagonal Baveers.

To sum up the matter in a few words, we shall open on Tuesday, September 2d, 1884, the largest and best assortment of ladies fine garments ever shown in the interior of the state. We gave very large orders July 1st, to three different manufacturers of these goods, in order to have our goods made in the dull season of the year, when good help could be obtained to make garments, consequently our garments are much better made than garments are that are made late in the season when everybody is in a hurry, and manufacturers have to take any work they can get. Our garments are all tailor made, far superior to any that will be found at any other house in the city. It is a well known fact that we have taken the entire lead in the sale of ladies fine garments for the past two years, particularly Fine Seal Plush Sacques, Dolmans and Circulars, running in price from $25 to $75. In those goods we defy all competition.

We propose this year to beat any of our former efforts. We have the goods now ready for sale. Parties intending to buy garments this season the sooner they buy them the better the assortment will be to select from. We have now on hand a full assortment of sizes. Last season we had a good deal of trouble in getting sizes late in the season, and had to wait a long time to get them, and the garments were not so well made at that time of year, as they had to be rushed through.

We defy any house in Janesville to show as fine a stock of Seal Plush and Brocade Silk garments as we have at the present time.

We have just received three tons at one shipment of garments. We are told that we can never sell the amount of garments we have just received. We know we can for these garments will sell themselves. All we have to do is to show them.

Ladies desiring fine garments are respectfully requested to call early before the sizes are broken. Also a large stock of misses' and children's garments just received, very cheap.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

—There is nothing like a name—Turtle Creek Stock farm. D. Q. Stark will explain to you all about it and show you some fine horses.

—Thos. Cooling, of Rockfork, Ill., who has just returned from a trip to England, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Geo. Sears.

—Remember the republican meeting in this village Saturday evening next. J. C. Bartholf and Hon. Pliny Norcross will speak.

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak Kidneys, or any disease of the urinary organs, or whoever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulant, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guaranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at 50 cents a bottle by F. Sherer & Co.

Milton Junction.

—The old town has monopoly of the political rally business this week.

—The late cold weather has improved the coal and wood business immensely.

—For whomsoever else you may vote next Tuesday, don't forget to vote for J. C. Bartholf, for the assembly. There is no reasonable doubt of his election; but he is a man whom we all ought to honor with our votes, irrespective of party. Let the township of Milton give him a rousing majority.

—Two of the inmates of the house in merchants' row, which has been so much the town talk of late, were arrested last week, but before the day appointed for trial, they with the remainder of the family, left town with the avowed intention of establishing themselves in Whitewater. Our gain is Whitewater's loss. But as a matter of fact they ought to be brought back and punished by due process of law.

In the pursuit of the good things of this world we anticipate too much; we eat out the heart and sweetness of worldly pleasures by delightful forethought of them. The results obtained from the use of Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic far exceed all claims. It cures dyspepsia, and all stomach, liver, kidney and bladder troubles. It is a perfect tonic, appetizer, blood purifier, a sure cure for ague and malarial diseases. Price 50 cents, of Stearns & Baker.

One of the James-Younger Gang.

[Pioneer Press "Voices."]

"I think Bob Younger ought to be let out," said a gentleman recently, who had quite a part in catching the Northfield raiders. "He was only a boy, and had no other model in life than his older brothers. They took pride in him after their fashion. As was shown when Frank James proposed to shoot Bob, who was wounded and impeded their flight, they were ready to die for him; and there is little doubt that the Youngers, as well as the James boys, would have escaped had they been cowardly enough to leave Bob behind. By the way, he has spent his time in Stillwater studying medicine, and if free would probably make a doctor of himself. He is a splendid fellow physically, and is a reliant, intelligent talker. His want of early education shows in his grammar, but on essential principles of medicine and the minutest knowledge of anatomy he is well read."

BERESFORD'S BELLIGERENCE.

It Seems to Have Gotten Him a Thrashing, and May Get Him Another.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The examination of Lord Marcus Beresford on the charge of assaulting Mr. Thomas Gibson Bowles, editor of Vanity Fair, at the office of that paper, the 10th inst., took place Wednesday, and resulted in his lordship being committed for trial. The evidence of the complainant showed that Lord Marcus caught a Tartar in the encounter. He had carefully planned his attack upon Mr. Bowles, and had waited in a carriage in front of The Vanity Fair office for the editor's appearance. When the latter came out upon the sidewalk Lord Marcus took him by surprise and hit him a heavy blow on the nose. After this surprise, Mr. Bowles said, his lordship received a terrible thrashing. The quarrel was caused by the publication in Vanity Fair of some severe strictures upon Lord Marcus Beresford's conduct as trustee for Mrs. Trevelyan, the separated wife of Col. Trevelyan, who formerly commanded a crack cavalry regiment. Mrs. Trevelyan is a relative of the earl of Egmont and of scores of other members of the English nobility, but it is claimed she became terribly addicted to drink, and Col. Trevelyan put her aside. He did not seek a divorce, but he executed a deed of trust settling upon her about $1,500 a year, and appointing Lord Marcus Beresford her trustee. Mrs. Trevelyan has since gone from bad to worse, has been before the police court, and has been in jail and at the workhouse. One of her excuses has been that her allowance had not been paid to her for a long time, and that her piteous appeals to Lord Marcus Beresford had been in vain. All these charges have been published from time to time in Vanity Fair, but the culminating point was reached when that paper published an anonymous letter attacking Lord Marcus with a degree of vituperation never shown in the editorial columns, and directly intimating that there had been a time when he had treated Mrs. Trevelyan with the reverse of neglect. This was the immediate cause of his lordship's assault upon the editor. In court his counsel declaimed against the meanness of publishing anonymous charges against a gentleman, but the tables were turned, and a tremendous sensation was caused when the earl of Egmont testified that he was the author of the anonymous letter, and that he was responsible for every assertion it contained.

The German Elections.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The Berlin press variously comment upon the Socialist victory at the elections of Tuesday. They all attribute it to Bismarck's continuance of the anti-Socialist law and await with curiosity his future action.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Reports of Tuesday's elections are still coming in slowly, as are also the returns of Wednesday's supplementary elections, where there were no results. In Hanover, supplementary election, Meister, Socialist, and Bruell, Guelph, were elected. In Solingen, Tuesday's election, the successful candidates are Schumacher, Socialist, and Fuchs, Center; in Oldenburg, supplementary, Neibour, Liberal, and Fortmann, National Liberal; in Mains, supplementary, Vollmar, Socialist, and Racke, Center.

The enormous success of the Socialists is the theme of general comment. In Konigsberg, where Socialism has hitherto been unknown, they developed a strong majority.

Sickening Tragedy in Georgia.

TALLULEH, Ga., Oct. 30.—A sickening tragedy was enacted in Rabun county Wednesday. Mr. Eugene Beck, a leading citizen, has for years been addicted to the use of strong drink. He returned home in the afternoon and began quarreling with his wife, when he drew a revolver and emptied five charges into her heart and head the woman sinking dead at his feet. Miss Addie Baily, his sister-in-law, who was in an adjoining room, rushed out, when the remaining charge of the fiend's revolver was emptied into her heart. The drunken wretch then laid down in stupor and fell asleep, from which he was awakened by officers who arrested him. It is feared that he will be lynched as the jail is insecure and the relatives of the murdered women are desperate men.

Aunt Becky Young.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 30.—Aunt Becky Young, of this city, is said to be likely to receive the appointment of matron of the new soldiers' home at Leavenworth. She joined her fortunes with the One-Hundred-and-Ninth New York regiment in the early part of the war; went to the front with that regiment, and returned home with it. She was always at the front, doing her duty, caring for the sick and wounded, and speaking words of comfort to the dying. She worked hard and shared the same fare as the soldiers on the tented field. Since the war closed her labors have not ceased. There never was a soldier turned away empty-handed who called on her for help if it was in her power. Her proper name is Sarah Young.

Sympathizers with the "Claimant."

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The first series of meetings in behalf of the Tichborne claimant was held Wednesday night in St. James hall, Piccadilly. The claimant was accompanied by his son, and delivered an address to a large and enthusiastic gathering. Mrs. Weldon also made a speech. The claimant (Tichborne) in his speech declared his persecution by the government was ascribed to the fact that Gladstone's daughter had married into the Tichborne family. He stated he had determined to devote his life to obtaining justice for himself and children. A resolution was passed by the meeting demanding the claimant should be restored to his rightful position.

Nothing Little About Him.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 30.—Several days past there have been rumors afloat of a heavy defalcation on the part of George T. Jackson, president of the Enterprise Cotton factory, and a committee was appointed to investigate the books of the company. Jackson confesses a defalcation, but cannot tell the amount. He claims all the responsibility for the deficit. Enough is already known from the investigating committee to show that the defalcation is over $60,000, and may reach $100,000.

For Woman's Advancement.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 30.—The opening session of the twelfth annual congress of the Association for the Advancement of Women began at 3 o'clock Wednesday, in this city. There was a fair attendance. The opening address was made by the president, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, of Rhode Island. Papers were read by Mrs. Edward D. Cheney, of Massachusetts, on "The Brahmo Somaj Movement in Its Relation to the State;" and by Mrs. Emma Mont McRae, of Indiana, on "Specialism in Education."

Emerald Grove.

—Wm. Davis returned from Dakota last week. He has been putting in the summer on a claim there, and had just made proof before returning. William speaks rather discouragingly of the prospects of the people there for the coming winter, and thinks there will be considerable suffering.

—For a full assortment of goods, call at Hasting's.

—Mr. E. Heller has just sold his thoroughbred race horse "Ned" to C. H. Stoller, to be shipped to Chicago, where they appreciate fine stock.

—A good table syrup at Hasting's for 40 cents.

—Our citizens were highly entertained on Saturday evening by the able and eloquent republican speeches, made at the Congregational church, N. Smith and Wm. Street, of Janesville. The audience was not enthusiastic but appreciative. Mr. Smith demonstrated that the future prosperity of the country depended on the election of Blaine and Logan, and Mr. Street that protection is the great hold to preserve our industries and give labor its proper reward. Mr. Smith confirmed the report that he knows more about politics than any other man in Wisconsin; and Mr. Street, as he always does, handsomely won his case. He called for any free trader to question him but if any such were present they were evidently converted, as no questions were asked. Look for a good republican vote from this berg.

—The annual meeting of the Emerald Grove branch of the Rock county Bible society was held at the Congregational church last Sabbath. After the usual devotional exercises conducted by the two pastors, Mr. J. M. Whitehead, of Janesville, delivered a very interesting and instructive address on "How to use the Bible." His address was mainly for the young, while all listened to it with profit, and a vote of thanks was tendered to him by the congregation. Messrs. C. H. Stoller and Harvey Joiner were elected president and vice president for the ensuing year and Mrs. Beesley secretary and treasurer. On account of the rainy weather the collection was deferred until the following Sabbath.

—The committee of arrangements for the meeting of the Sabbath school association of Rock county, to be held here November 4th and 6th, extend, on behalf of the church here, a most hearty invitation to all the Sabbath school workers and christian friends who can attend. We hope for a good attendance, at least from the adjoining towns. Election will be over and with a rest on politics, we can then turn our attention to a more momentous theme, the study of the bible and christian training of the young. The exercises will be held in the Methodist church, opening Wednesday evening, and a basket dinner will be served on Thursday in the Congregational church by the ladies. It would facilitate the labor of the committee, of the friends who think of coming Wednesday would send on their names to Rev. D. B. Jackson, but in any case ample entertainment will be furnished all. By order of the committee.

With Ely's Cream Balm a child can be treated without pain or dread, and with perfect safety. Try the remedy. It cure Catarrh, Hay Fever and Colds in the head 50c.

Apply into nostrils with the finger.

The restoration to health of our child we considered uncertain. When two weeks old she caught cold. For eighteen months was not able to breathe through her nostrils, became emaciated. Upon using Ely's Cream Balm her difficulty was removed; she breathes naturally. Mr. and Mrs J. M. Smith, Owego, N. Y.

From Colonel C. H. Mackey, 32d Iowa Infantry: "I have derived more benefit from Ely's Cream Balm than anything else I have ever tried. I have now been using it for three months and am experiencing no trouble from Catarrh whatever I have been a sufferer for twenty years C. H. Mackey, Sigourney, Iowa, Feb. 22 1882.

HOSTETTER'S

MISCELLANEOUS.

What's a Miracle

to some people is really only the result of the use of knowledge and common-sense. Many persons suffering from hesitate about taking a remedy fearing it will not help them, and they doubt whether it really did do as much for others as is claimed.

RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA

This is not the way Mr. C. R. [illegible] of Urbana, Ohio, did. He writes:

"ATHLOPHOROS is the best I ever used. I was down in bed so bad that I had to be turned on a sheet, and so I got a bottle of ATHLOPHOROS and began taking it at 9 o'clock, and I was suffering everything a man could suffer. I took four doses of it, and I got out of bed myself and ate my supper, and the next morning I walked out to breakfast without canes.

IT IS WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD."

ATHLO-PHOROS

is not a miraculous thing, but it is the only sure cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and it will cure just as easily and certainly, as it has thousands of others.

YOU

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed.

THE BEST EQUIPPED RAILROAD IN THE WORLD.

Let it be forever remembered that the Chicago & Northwestern Railway

is the best and shortest route to and from Chicago and Council Bluffs (Omaha), and that it is preferred by all well posted travelers when passing to or from

CALIFORNIA AND COLORADO

It also operates the best route and the short line between

Chicago & St. Paul & Minneapolis

Milwaukee, La Crosse, Sparta, Madison, Fort Howard (Green Bay), Wis., Winona, Owatonna, Mankato, Minn., Cedar Rapids, Des Moines Webster City, Algona, Clinton, Marshalltown Iowa, Freeport, Elgin, Rockford, Ill., are amongst its 800 local stations on its lines.

Among a few of the numerous points of superiority enjoyed by the patrons of this road, are its DAY COACHES which are the finest that human art and ingenuity can create; its PALATIAL SLEEPING CARS, which are models of comfort and elegance; its PALACE DRAWING ROOM CARS, which are unsurpassed by any; and its widely celebrated the like of which are not run by any other road anywhere. In short, it is asserted that IT IS THE BEST EQUIPPED ROAD IN THE WORLD.

All points of interest North, Northwest and West of Chicago, business centres, summer resorts and noted hunting and fishing grounds are accessible by the various branches of this road.

It owns and controls over 5,000 miles of road and has over four hundred passenger conductors constantly caring for its millions of patrons.

Ask your ticket agent for tickets via this route, AND TAKE NONE OTHER. All leading ticket agents sell them. It costs no more to travel on this route, that gives first-class accommodations, than it does to go by the poorly equipped roads.

Briefiets.

—No criminal business in the municipal court to-day.

—Captain Pliny Norcross will be the next assemblyman from the Janesville district.

—The members of the Union club will give another of their enjoyable socials in Apollo hall this evening.

—Remember the attractions at the bazaar in the Guards' armory, this evening. Go early and avoid the rush.

—J. A. Denniston has just received a choice lot of fresh and juicy Florida oranges, at his store on West Milwaukee street.

—Janesville will be full of politics this evening—the republicans meet at Lappin's music hall, and the democrats at the opera house.

—Hon. George W. Julien, of Indiana, will speak at the opera house this evening, under the auspices of the Cleveland and Hendricks club.

—The democrats will hold their ward caucuses this evening to select delegates for their assembly convention which meets to-morrow afternoon.

—Our Irish-American citizens should not fail to hear Mr. John Toohey, the eloquent Irish orator, discuss the political issues at Lappin's hall this evening.

—A republican rally will be held at the La Prairie town hall this evening, the speakers being J. C. Bartholf, of Milton, and Captain Pliny Norcross, of this city.

—There will be something to please everybody, at the bazaar in the Guards' armory, this evening. Be reckoned among the "lucky numbers," by putting in an appearance.

—The Blaine and Logan Invincibles and members of the Blaine and Logan club are requested to assemble at the club rooms at 7 o'clock this evening, uniforms and torches for all.

—B. M. Malone, Esq., of Beloit, the republican candidate for district attorney, and Wm. Street, Esq., of this city, will address a republican meeting at the Newark town hall this evening.

—The nomination of Captain Pliny Norcross, for the assembly, by the republicans of the second district, pleases every one who has a desire to see an able representative sent to Madison from this city.

—The new brick store on the corner of Main and North Second streets, just erected by Mr. Peter Myers, is now enclosed, and will be completed in a few days, and occupied, we understand, by the Janesville Hay Tool company.

—Attend the republican meeting in Lappin's music hall this evening, Mr. John Toohey, the eloquent Irish orator of Milwaukee, and P. J. Clawson, Esq., of Green county, will address the meeting. Good music will be in attendance.

—The funeral of the late Kittie Welch took place at St. Patrick's church this forenoon at ten o'clock, and was attended by a very large number of sympathizing friends. Rev. Father McGinnity conducted the solemn services. The remains were taken to the Catholic cemetery for burial. Messrs. Frank Parker, Albert Jones, John Clark, Henry Gagan, John Hart and Wm. Rooney, acted as pall-bearers.

—Rousing and enthusiastic republican meetings were held last night at Hanover, Afton, Fairfield, Cooksville and Brodhead, able and convincing addresses were made respectively by O. H. Fethers, Captain Pliny Norcross and H. H. Blanchard, B. F. Dunwiddie and Wilson Lane, J. C. Bartholf and N. Smith, and Major S. S. Rockwood and Congressman Price. These meetings were all largely attended and gave evidence that the republicans of old Rock county would give their old time majority on Tuesday next.

—Notwithstanding the great political excitement which is now attracting the attention of all classes of our people, the bazaar, at the Guards' armory, under the auspices of the Sisters of Mercy of St. Joseph's convent, is drawing large crowds of our people. The Sisters have a large collection of articles on exhibition, and they deserve the patronage of the public generally. The armory will be open afternoons and evenings, closing on November 8th. It will cost you only ten cents to call and examine the variety of work displayed, which is a rare treat, indeed. Do not let the chance pass by.

—The court house was a very dull and dry place to-day. Clerk of the Court Baldwin is kept busy attending to court matters, and making out naturalization papers; County Clerk Morgan is getting business ready for the meeting of the county board of supervisors, which meets in annual session, on the tenth of November, and Treasurer Miles is in his office ready to cash all bills presented against the county. The routine business in the register's office, and the office of the county judge, is all that is going on in the county building. The janitor, Mr. M. L. Nelson, has given the building a thorough cleaning, and now finds time to attend republican rallies, and add his voice to the grand chorus in hurrahing for Blaine and Logan.

Personal.

—Mr. W. V. Morrison went to Detroit yesterday afternoon; he will be absent until after election.

—Frank Marquissee, of Altoona, Wis., is home for a short visit with his family and friends, and to vote.

—Mr. and Mrs. Archie Galbraith, who have been spending two or three weeks in St. Louis, returned home last evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. George L. Harris, who have been visiting their friends in this city for a few weeks, started for their home in Euclid, Minn., yesterday.

—Captain John Neal, of this city, started for New York this morning, to take command of his vessel, bound for Trindad, and other West India ports.

—Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hayner, who have been visiting relatives and friends in this city for the past month, returned to their home in Chicago this morning.

—Mr. Andy Reddy, of the first ward, returned home from Buffalo, New York, this morning, where he went some two weeks ago to attend the funeral of a niece.

—Mr. P. Wesley Wood, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Wood, of the second ward, returned last evening to Huron, Dakota, where he makes his headquarters, holding a position as conductor on the Chicago and Northwestern railway.

FIRE IN EDGERTON.

The "Cooler" Destroyed by Fire This Morning.

Edward Gunderson, an Inmate, Burned to Death.

A gentleman from Edgerton informs us that the "cooler" in Edgerton, a building 15x16, built of 2x4 timber spiked together took fire this morning at about five o'clock, and was totally destroyed. Edward Gunderson, a half-witted Norwegian, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on charge of stealing a book from Dr. Larkin, perished in the flames. The particulars of the fire were given to us as follows: The fire was discovered at five o'clock this morning, and an attempt was made to open the door and liberate the prisoner, by hammering the lock with a bar of iron, which proved unsuccessful, and when the marshal arrived with the key, the lock was so jammed that the key would not unlock it. The door was then pried open, but the flames were so hot that the unfortunate man could not be reached. Hand fire grenades, which constituted the fire extinguishing apparatus of the little city were freely used, and the flames were stayed long enough to enable the crowd to enter the building and recover the body of Gunderson, which was terribly burned. The building was then allowed to burn, the people protecting the surrounding property as best they could.

Our informant did not ascertain the cause of the fire, but some thought it was caused by Gunderson being careless with his pipe.

Incidents of the Chase.

The angle worm club, in their late adventures in the northern part of the state, relate some very entertaining experiences; and the visiting or honorary member, who listens for an hour to the wonderful recital of hair-breath escapes, and many devices for capturing the wary deer, finds himself asking the question, "Did you all get home alive? and did you leave enough deer to start a next year's crop?" The journal of the club has nothing to say about any losses by death, and the one lone pair of antlers which occupy a conspicuous place at the club headquarters, are proof of the fact that a few of the noble animals escaped.

The club camped near the shore of the Peshtigo river. This is a stream, in ordinary stage of water, about the size of Rock river. It puts on a good deal more style, however, and at this season of the year, ignores the low banks along the shore, and in many places runs wild, all through the woods, forming a wide stream, with a rapid current. The "Angle-worm club" take to the water as naturally as ducks; and the first day's reconnoiter, brought out the fact, that North-Wisconsin deer, spend most of their time bathing in the Peshtigo river. It would be an easy matter to stand behind a tree and pick them off with a rifle, as was demonstrated by the very first shot, which brought down a fine buck. The swift current took him, however, before he had stopped kicking, and the last seen of him, he was floating away through the trees at a ten mile pace. A plan of operation was speedily arranged, and the second day's hunt found the president of the club and two or three veteran members stationed around the favorite deer resort, ready to do the shooting, while scattered along down the stream for two or three miles, the balance of the party were found paddling around in boats, picking up the victims as they floated by. This, to a casual observer, might seem like a very easy task, but when you put a man in a skiff made out of a saw log, with nothing but a paddle for propelling power, and in water that travels as though it was going somewhere, it begins to seem a little like business. Take this kind of a craft, and tie a deer on behind, and set the whole outfit afloat, and you have the rescuing force of the Angle Worm club as they appeared on the Pestigo river.

The first capture was made by the apothecary of the party, and was very exciting for all concerned. By the time the deer was safely fastened to the rear of the canoe, the whole outfit was gliding along rapidly towards a waterfall of sufficient height to look dangerous. A friendly tree that stood near the brink served as a short stop, and venison was safely landed. A little further down the stream the surgeon of the club was having a tussel with a fine specimen that he had just captured. As his boat glided in and out among the trees with the deer in tow, the establishment became bewildered as to the best route, and the question was finally decided by the boat going one side of a tree and the deer the other, while the man at the helm was obliged to climb or swim, and not being much of a waterfowl, he took to the woods. Ten days of this rare sport, brought down twenty-seven deer—twenty-six of them were sun-struck and spoiled on the way home, but the head and antlers of the twenty-seventh now occupy a conspicuous place at the club headquarters, and are recognized as the sole property of the president of the club.

The angle worm club won a great many laurels on the trip, and the next time they tackle a turkey shoot, the turkeys will suffer more from the effects of the cold lead than from cold feet, as they did last winter.

Republican Meetings.

List of appointments for republican meetings to be held in Rock county, made by the county committee:

Lima, Friday, Oct. 31st—James Sutherland and J. C. Bartholf.

Turtle town hall, Friday, Oct. 31—Col. N. Smith and Ed. F. Carpenter.

Shopiere, Saturday, Nov. 1st—J. C. Bartholf and Pliny Norcross.

Fulton, Saturday, Nov. 1st—John M. Whitehead and Emmet McGowen.

Clinton, Monday, Nov. 3d—Ogden H. Fethers and L. B. Caswell.

Milton, Nov. 3d—J. C. Bartholf and B. M. Malone.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 38 degrees above zero. Clear, with south wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 58 degrees above zero. Cloudy with northeast wind For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 49 and 51 degrees above zero.

MATRIMONIAL.

PORTER–TRIPP.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tripp, in the town of Rock, was the scene of a happy gathering of friends last evening, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Hattie H. Tripp, to Mr. Joseph B. Porter, of the town of Porter, this county. The parlors were handsomely decorated and illuminated for the occasion, and at 7:30 o'clock the groom and bride took their positions beneath a handsome floral arch, upon which perched a beautiful white dove, and surrounded by their relatives and many friends, R . C. B. Wilcox, pastor of Court Street Methodist church, of this city, pronounced the pleasant words, uniting their hands and hearts for life. Hearty congratulations, followed by the guests partaking of a bountiful and rich wedding feast, and a happy mingling together of friends, made the occasion one of the most pleasant. The bride was the recipient of many elegant and rich presents. We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Porter will reside in Porter, Rock county.

EDDINGTON–BIGLOW.

Mr. Morris A. Eddington, of this city, and Miss Nellie D. Biglow, of Fulton were united in marriage by Rev. G. W. Lawrence, at his residence on South Main street, Wednesday evening, Oct. 29th, 1884. Morris being an adept in the manufacture of a very common and useful article for the equine race, and which is also common as an emblem among the friends of newly wedded couples, it is now to be hoped that he and his fair spouse may have abundance of "good luck" in all the departments of domestic social and business life. A capital supper was served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Lee, with whom Mr. and Mrs. Eddington will make their home for the present. Friendly congratulations are now in order.

Special Train to Madison.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company will run a special train to Madison on Saturday evening, leaving Janesville at six o'clock, and returning leaves Madison at 10:30 o'clock. This train is for the accommodation of all persons who desire to attend the democratic demonstration in Madison on that evening. Fare for the round trip, ninety-five cents.

Attention Invincibles.

All members of the Blaine and Logan Invincibles are requested to meet at the club room this evening at 7 o'clock sharp. Torches and uniforms will be furnished to members of the Blaine and Logan club who wish to meet with the Invincibles on this occasion.
CHAS. ATWOOD, President.

All Aboard for Madison.

All citizens of Janesville and vicinity who favor an honest and economical administration are cordially invited to meet at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger depot, in this city, on Saturday evening of this week, at six o'clock, sharp, to take the special train for Madison, to participate in the grandest popular demonstration ever witnessed in the Northwest. The ladies of Madison will present the county sending the largest delegation of torch-bearers with a beautiful silk Cleveland and Hendricks banner. There will be speeches afternoon and evening by prominent men from home and abroad. Round trip tickets only 95 cents. Everybody is invited. We should like very much to see Rock county capture the banner, and have no doubt she will. X.

Mr. Fethers' Appointments.

The republican state central committee has assigned Ogden H. Fethers to the following places:

Elkhorn, Friday, October 31.
Edgerton, Saturday, November 1.
Clinton, Monday, November 3.

First Cremation of a Priest in Italy.

[London Daily News.]

The first instance of the cremation of a priest in Italy occurred the other day in Milan. Rev. Don Giovanni Sartorio had left instructions by his will that his body should be burned, and had deposed that in case of non-compliance with his wishes the heirs should forfeit the inheritance. As soon as this became known the eleven priests who had been retained to perform the funeral services, returned their fees and the priest's remains were committed to the flames unaccompanied by any Christian rite.

A Winter Pastime.

[Norristown Herald.]

A medical writer says that the cholera microbe is shaped like a comma, and that 40,000 to 60,000 of them placed lengthwise would make an inch. Catching microbes and placing them lengthwise would be a nice pastime for the coming long winter evenings.

He (an old hand)—They have dropped their anchor. She (a beginner)—Served them right! It has been hanging over the side all day long.

M'CULLOUGH'S JOKE.

Spoiling the Points of a Comedian's Stories.

A Merry Company at a Dinner—A Climax and a Dead Silence—The Tragedian's Fatherly Talk.

[Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.]

John McCullough loved above all things a practical joke. A couple of years ago, as a certain writer relates, he struck up a great friendship with President Arthur and his set in Washington, and was the life of the table at all the diplomatic stag parties. About that time Gus Williams was blossoming out from the variety to the regular stage, and had acquired considerable reputation as a general raconteur of funny conceits and a sprightly after-dinner wit.

McCullough, who had suffered from several practical jokes played on him by the Dutch comedian, determined to take him down and nip his reputation in the bud. He took John T. Raymond, Jim Collier and the political coterie of Washington into his confidence, and the game was perfected.

The president gave a little dinner party, and, among others, Gus Williams was invited. It was impressed on him that he was celebrated at the White House as a very funny fellow, and he was expected to keep the table in a roar. He said nothing, but secretly laid himself out to do it. He reported at the dinner party with a choice budget of original witticisms, which he was sure could not fail to make a great effect when he got a chance to fire them off.

The dinner passed very merrily, but whenever Williams attempted to get off a joke he was sure to be interrupted by either McCullough or Raymond before the point of the joke could be brought out. At last, however, there was a lull, and he couldn't be staved off any longer. He began a story. The whole party listened with great gravity. The wag proceeded in his best style, working it up to the laughing point. The story was a good one, but they all preserved their equanimity and listened without a smile. When the climax came and the joker stopped there was a dead silence.

"Well, what then?" asked McCullough, after a painful pause.

"That's all of the story," replied Williams, sadly.

The tragedian gave him a pitying look, and, exchanging glances with the other actors, changed the subject.

Later the wit took heart again and tried on a new story, but the result was the same, and Williams noticed that the whole party cast looks of pity and astonishment at him. He grew secretly mad and desperate at this, and tried frequently, but still in vain, to make a point. Not a laugh could he get that night.

Afterward, on the way home, McCullough talked with the wit in a fatherly way.

"You made a terrible exhibition of yourself to-night, my boy," said he. "You need rest and you'll take it if you are wise. Your brain is going. There's too much strain on it, inventing jokes for years for your performances."

He insisted on seeing the joker home and tucking him in bed, and then sent three doctors to him, at his own expense, to the great discomfiture of the funny man.

A Story Told in Confidence.

[Chicago News.]

A prominent insurance commissioner of Minnesota, is in the city and doesn't mind telling a certain bunko experience he had when he was here attending the Republican national convention.

One morning he dressed himself rather hurriedly and started for the convention hall a little late. As he was hurrying through the crowded street a man called to him from the edge of the sidewalk:

"I say, mister!"

But the commissioner was no sucker. He didn't stop and tell the bunko man who he was and go around to a lottery shop with him and bet his money on a sure thing. No, sirree, he was no countryman to be taken in by Chicago sharps. He went right on, thinking how much smarter he was than he looked.

Presently another man pointed toward the sidewalk and said:

"Look at that."

Did the commissioner look down and let that man carry out some diabolical job he had put up? Not much. He went right on, chin up and eyes to the front. He wondered what this new trick could be. Like enough that miserable coot wanted to call his attention away from some pal who was sneaking up behind him to steal his watch.

Before he had gone another block a small and very dirty boy said to his companion bootblack:

"Hi, Skinny, look a' de statesman wid de breeches rolled up."

The gentleman looked down and found one leg of his trousers rolled up above his knee, right where he had left it when he hurriedly pulled on his last boot.

He doesn't mind telling this in a confidential sort of way, if you'll be sure not to let it out in a crowd.

Pronunciation of American Names.

[The Critic.]

Without commencing upon the Tagliaferros (Tollivers) of Virginia, there are the Cecils (pronounced Sysls, or Syssls), the Champeneys (Chauneys), Rollestones (Rallstons), Leighs (Lees, Lays, and oftentimes Lyes), the Timberlakes (Timliks), the Asheests (Ashetts), the Blounts (Blunts), the Elcarts (Allerts), Auchtenbawches (Arbols), and the Kors (Kares). A family rejoiced in the name of Polly. The eldest son, an unkempt youth of 19, was called George Washington Polly. But the name was always written Pauline. Then the name Ralph was always Rafe, and the name Helena was accented on the first syllable—an English custom, but one not usual in the north.

In Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi, many other names occur, often of French, Spanish or Indian derivation, which assume a peculiar dialectal form. There is Beauchamp (pronounced Beechum), Daughty (Dety), Dockery (sometimes spelt Dackery—a contraction, it was said, of the French Du Cherie), Des Moulin (Demlin), Dupuy (Dupee), Pevensey (Pinsey), and many others which assume more or less variety in expression and pronunciation.

Could Stand It no Longer.

[Chicago Times.]

The adopted daughter of a North Carolina farmer ran away and returned to the family hovel on the mountain. A neighbor looking for her stray cows came across her standing in the door, and accepted an invitation to enter. Looking around at the squalor and filth, she exclaimed: "I don't see, Sallie, what made you leave them good folks, where everything was so nice and neat." "Wa'al," was the reply, "you see, I was just gorged with neatness."

Easily Disposed of.

Sewerage is a thing scarcely heard of in Italian cities. When the heap of garbage in the back yard becomes too festive for comfort the family go off to the seashore for a month.

Cure for Stuttering.

[Phrenological Journal.]

A gentleman who stammered from childhood almost up to manhood gives a very simple remedy for the misfortune: "Go into a room where you will be quiet and alone, get some book that will interest but not excite you, and sit down and read two hours aloud to yourself, keeping your teeth together. Do the same thing every two or three days, or once a week if very tiresome, always taking care to read slowly and distinctly, moving the lips, but not the teeth. Then, when conversing with others, try to speak as slowly and distinctly as possible, and make up your mind that you will not stammer. Well, I tried this remedy, not having much faith in it, I must confess, but willing to do almost anything to cure myself of such an annoying difficulty. I read for two hours aloud with my teeth together. The first result was to make my tongue and jaws ache, that is while I was reading, and the next to make me feel as if something had loosened my talking apparatus, for I could speak with less difficulty immediately. The change was so great that everyone who knew me remarked it. I repented the remedy every five or six days for a month, and then at longer intervals until cured."
